

Prof S. Parasuraman

Director

Tata Institute of Social Sciences

Prof S. Parasuraman is the Director of Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai since 2004. Prior to that he has worked at esteemed positions with several organizations viz. Senior Consultant, UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, UNESCAP, Bangkok; Asia Regional Policy Director, ActionAid International, Asia Regional Office, Bangkok, Thailand; Senior Advisor to the Commission, and Team Leader of the Secretariat, World Commission on Dams (IUCN-World Bank), Cape Town, South Africa; Programme Director, Oxfam GB, India Programme, New Delhi, India. He has also been a Professor and Head of Unit for Rural Studies; & Professor, Department of Research Methodology, TISS; Reader in Social Sciences and Lecturer, Unit for Child & Youth Research.

He has been teaching subjects like Social Anthropology, Demography, Research Methodology and Rural Development. His research experience varies from Water and energy resources - options assessment and decision-making processes, Involuntary resettlement of people, Social Impact of Globalisation, Governance, Social exclusion and Disaster management. Her has written over 50 research articles; 30 of them published in journals at the national and international level and various books, latest one being "India Diasters Report 2009", to be published soon.